

BRIEF OPPORTUNITY

#4 APR

FREE CREATIVE WORKSHEETS FOR GROWNUPS. THIS MONTH'S BRIEF OPPORTUNITY IS CALLED:

COLOUR IN SPRING

1

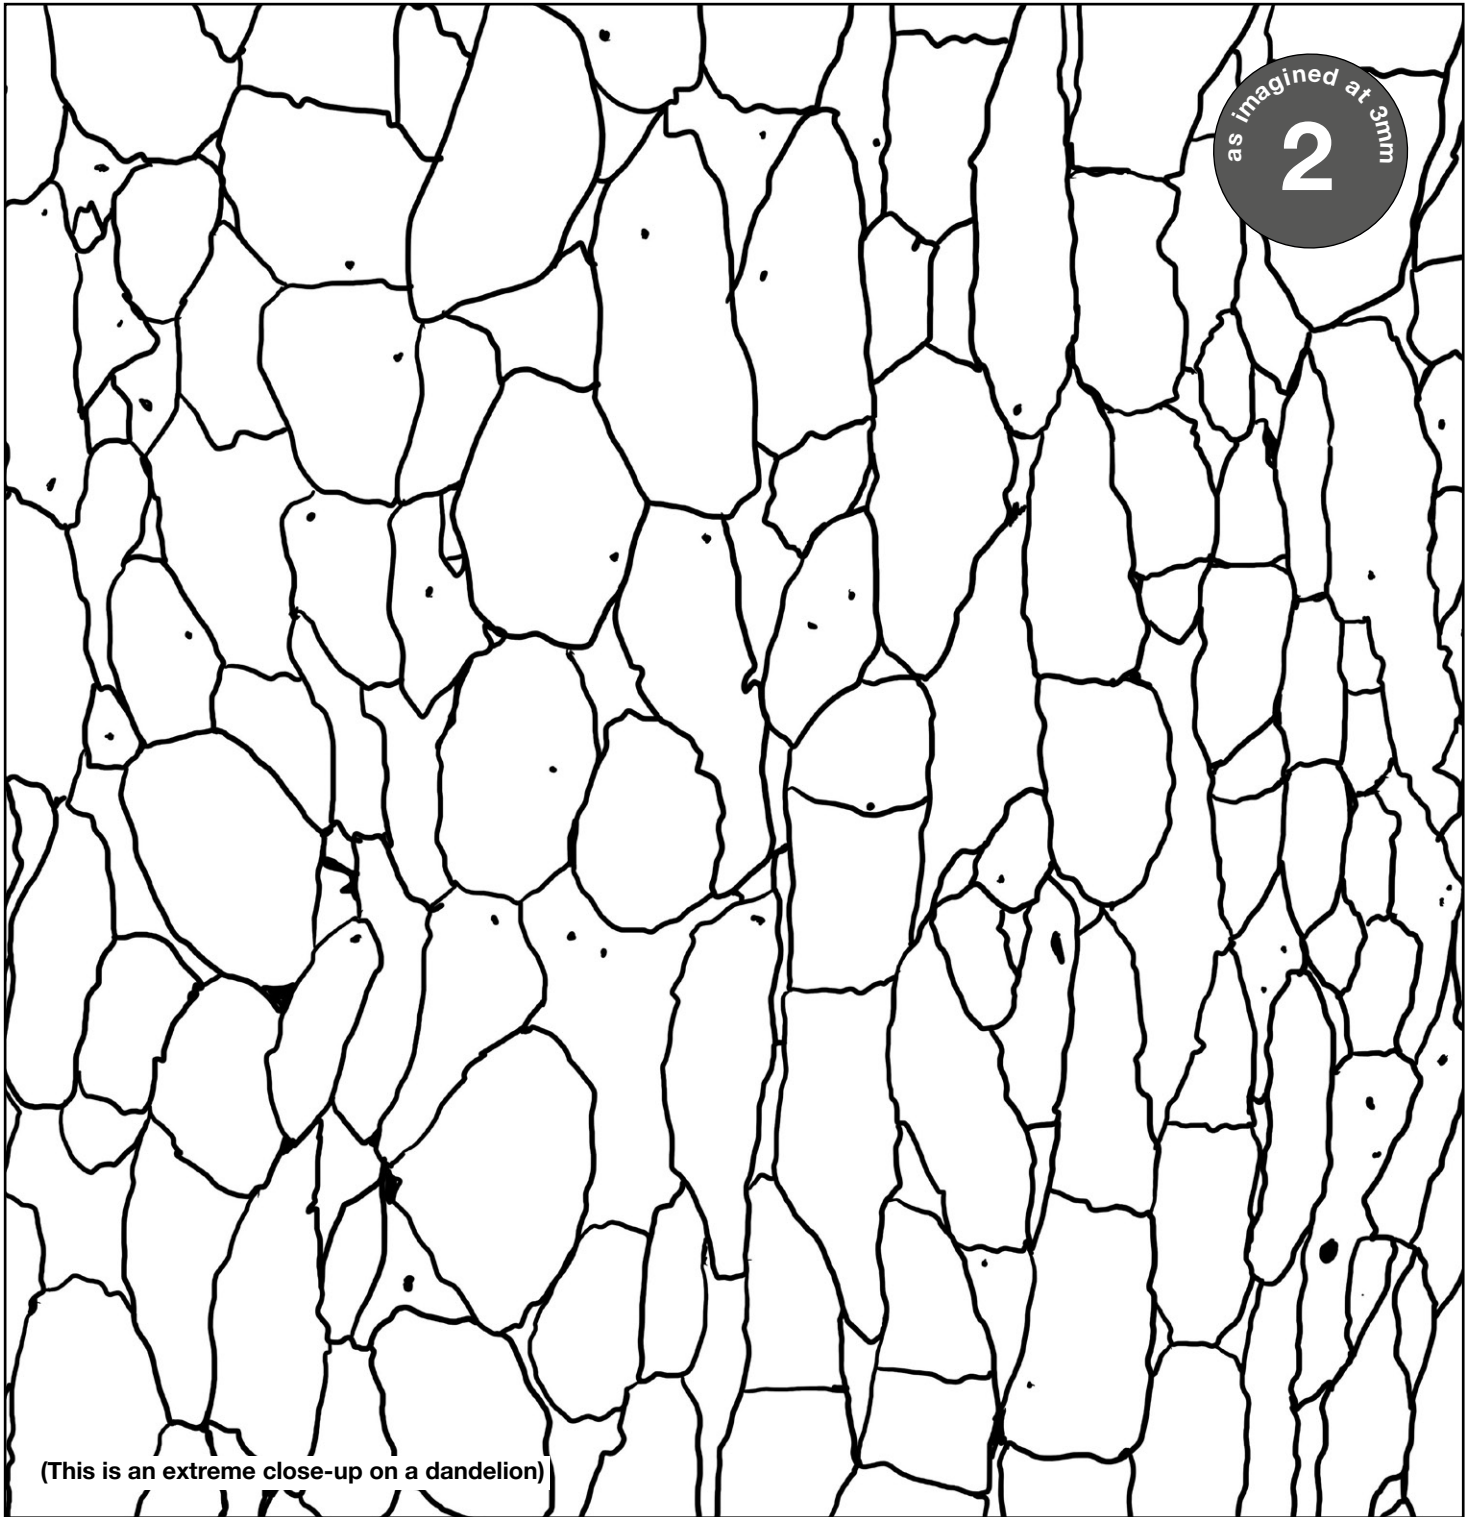

This month's colouring-in activity is informed by the short film Powers of Ten (1977) by Charles and Ray Eames – an extraordinary representation of our universe at various scales and sizes. You can watch the film on the Eames YouTube channel. Let's begin by thinking about something which is around 30cm wide.

SLIDESHOW

We have picked a number of images which we hope might inspire your responses to this brief. View on our Instagram: @foundation.press

We are now going to ask you to make a drawing which could be coloured in by someone else. To get your ideas going fill this box with little doodles which could feature in your drawing. Try to do at least 12 different things – imagine things at different sizes and scales...

Riffing on the doodles you made on the previous page can you produce a drawing below which can be coloured in by someone else? A fineliner or felt-tip pen is ideal for this task. Make sure the drawing is made up of closed shapes so it can be coloured in easily. You might also like to embellish it with patterns or shapes so there's plenty of colouring in to do.
